RED CROSS COMPLETES PLANS FOR $5000 DRIVE

Nurse Service For Richmond Goal Of Group

Two hundred and fifty workers under the general chairmanship of George Rader will handle campaign plans for the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, which opens on Armistice Day and continues until Thanksgiving Day, according to an announcement made last night at a final roll call meeting.

Rader, who successfully directed last year's roll call in Richmond, is again in charge and states the local goal will be $5000. It is the hope of the Richmond chapter, of which Bert Scoble is president, to inaugurate a nursing service in the city.

E. E. Arne, assistant manager, Pacific branch, American Red Cross, was the principal speaker at last night's meeting, sketching a short history of Red Cross activities since the war and telling of disaster relief work.

Work Well Known
"No organization in the world," said Arne, "is as well known as the Red Cross. When we entered the war there were six Red Cross societies, including the group in Germany, now there are 15 nations represented in the national Red Cross; 10 years ago there were three junior groups, now there are 48 junior Red Cross organizations; a few years ago 54,000 had enrolled, for first aid under the Red Cross, now 300,000 have taken the course. Disaster relief work has been on the increase. The American people have uniformly over-subscribed any call for relief funds, which is significant that there is a tremendous faith in the American Red Cross."

Women Workers

One hundred and fifty women workers are being mobilized under the supervision of Mrs. J. P. Brooks and 30 more volunteer workers are needed for booths and solicitation. Every woman in the city is urged to aid during this big campaign, and give a few hours time toward the successful conclusion of the drive. Anyone volunteering is asked to call Mrs. Brooks, Richmond 279 on the Richmond chapter, Red Cross headquarters, Richmond 2789.

Reapportionment Measure Favored

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Two out of every three voters in California, or upwards of 1,000,000 persons out of more than 1,500,000 persons who went to the polls, voted for their "favorite son," Herbert Hoover, in the election Tuesday.

Among the state amendments, that which provided for the text of the greatest approval while opponents to the move to eliminate legalized boxing and rodeos had gained impressive victories. The proposition for reapportionment has apparently carried, by slight leads, and the tax amendment had been favored by a majority of about 300,000 votes.

Proposals for the waiving of jury trials in criminal cases and motor vehicle fees also carried.

Broker In Eleven Story Death Leap

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—B. C. "Chit" Ireland, 60, wealthy broker and at one time a famous ball player, is dead as the result of a fall from the eleventh floor of the Flood building on Powell street. Police believe that Ireland committed suicide in a fit of despondency, brought about by a nervous breakdown.

Identification of the body was first made through personal effects.

His body dropped from the eleventh floor like a plummet, narrowly missed hitting two automobiles and landed on the street, five feet from the edge of the sidewalk, battered almost beyond recognition.

A few minutes before the tragedy he had been sitting in the office of Dr. Thomas G. Imman, a nerve specialist on the eleventh floor of the Flood building. Ireland had been to lunch with Dr. Imman and was waiting for him to drive to his home at 2688 Filbert street. According to Dr. Imman, Ireland had been in the best of spirits during the luncheon. He had been treated for some time for nerve trouble.

Reduced Bus Rate For School Pupils

A special rate to school children using the new bus service to be started soon in the East Richmond district, will be established by Edward Lucas, operator of the bus service.

This announcement was made yesterday afternoon following a conference with City Councilman A. L. Paulsen. Lucas said that

Dec. 1 would be the latest date on which the service would be established and hoped to be operating before that time. As soon as the bus can be placed in operation and estimates made of the number of children who will travel over the route, a special fare rate will be established, he declared.

Richmond Resident Dies In Martinez

MARTINEZ, Nov. 7.—William Pank, 64, a resident of Richmond died in the Martinez hospital Tuesday. He was a native of Kansas and as far as it is known has no relatives living in this section of the country. The body is at the Brimble and Connolly parlors pending funeral arrangements.

Reckless Driver Pays Fine Of $100

Charged with reckless driving, T. L. White, Standard Oil employee, was fined $100 yesterday when he appeared before Police Judge J. F. Plank of El Cerrito. The charge was reduced from one of driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by raffle officer Floyd Gilbert.

ARMISTICE TO BE MARKED HERE

Richmond churches will join with those of the nation Sunday in the observance of Peace Sunday, which falls on Armistice Day. While veterans will hold their programs on Monday, ministers throughout the city will stress the importance of peace in their Sunday sermons.

One of the features of the program planned for the observance will be the unveiling of the Memorial fountain by the Richmond chapter of War Mothers in Memorial park. Mrs. Cora E. Cox, state president of the War Mothers will be present at the dedication ceremonies and Mayor Mattie Chandler will accept the fountain on behalf of the city.

Civic Service
Civic observance of the day will be held in Memorial hall auditorium, under the direction of the Richmond Allied council of War Veterans. The program, which will include speakers and musical numbers, will begin at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a pause at 10:55, at which time the whistles of the various industrial plants will blow for five minutes, in memory of the signing of the Armistice, 10 years ago.

Saturday night, the annual Armistice Day ball will be held in East Shore park, under the auspices of the Richmond post of the American Legion.

Church Services
Religious observance of the day will be held in the churches, Sunday.

A patriotic tableau will feature the evening services in Wesley Methodist church. The tableau will be presented by the young people of the church. There will be a program of instrumental and vocal numbers. Rev. C. G. Lindemann will deliver a special Armistice Day sermon.

Peace and the sincere desire to maintain it at home and abroad will form the topic of the sermon of Rev. Milton Terry in Trinity Episcopal church.

Higher Heroism
Armistice Day will be observed at both the morning and evening services in Community Methodist church by Rev. G. W. Forman.

"The Higher Heroism" will be the subject of the morning sermon. The choir will present special musical numbers.

In the First Presbyterian church the day will be observed at both services. "What Is Your War Record?" will be the topic of the evening address. There will be a flag service, special music and a ritual. "Neighbors" will be the subject of the morning sermon. Both sermons will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Alden Pratt.

A chorus of 20 voices, members of the Intermediate league will provide special music for the evening services in the First Methodist church. Rev. F. H. Prince, the pastor, will deliver the sermon which will be in keeping with the day.

Present, Future

PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR SMALL FIRE LOSS FETE

The celebration to be held in Richmond next Wednesday in honor of the city's record in reducing its fire losses will be one of the largest of the kind ever held here, with men and women in attendance from the bay region and distant parts of the state, led by Governor C. C. Young, it was indicated yesterday at a Chamber of Commerce meeting at which plans were whittled into shape.

Governor Young will come from Sacramento especially to head the list of speakers at the luncheon and congratulate Richmond on being the safest city in America as regards losses by fire.

He will officiate at the presentation of two cups to Mrs. Mattie Chandler, mayor of Richmond, one cup for fire loss reduction among Pacific coast cities, the other, won in a contest with 90 cities throughout the United States and the world.

Present at the ceremony will be Clark Thomas, representing the late Thomas Inc., who originally donated the Pacific coast cup, and Lewis B. Mayer, movie magnate of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation, donor of the international cup. Both cups have already been presented to Fire Chief W. B. Cooper at fire chief's conventions. At the Wednesday celebration Mrs. Mattie Chandler will receive the cups and will turn them over to Chief Cooper for preservation at the fire house.

Parade Planned
The luncheon meeting will be preceded by a parade starting at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue and taking in the entire

VOTE SEVERE SETBACK TO DEMOCRATS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover's tremendous victory, passing all previous records, both in popular and electoral votes, opens a new era in the nation's politics for both parties.

Republicans have demonstrated a grip on the country which has remained unshakable through three presidential campaigns in which the opposition resorted to every conceivable type of strategy. Democrats have suffered a severe blow in permitting Hoover to break into their solid south. What this may lead to no one knows but it might easily prove a revolutionary event for the democratic party.

Wet or Dry?
It has been shown the south will not remain democratic regardless of everything. Those controlling the democratic party's policy during the next four years must decide whether to play to the eastern wet vote by which Smith carried Massachusetts and Rhode Island or whether to permit the old dry democratic south to resume its domination of the party's affairs.

New Executive Of Nation In Solemn Mood

PALO ALTO, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—With solemnity rather than with the feeling of victory or exultation, Herbert Hoover president-elect, tonight looked forward to the duties he will assume as chief executive of the American Republic.

With his family gathered around him in his picturesque home, Hoover for the first time since the avalanche of votes sent him to victory over Gov. Alfred E. Smith made a formal statement of his success.

Hoover said he felt his election was a "vindication of great issues" and that in the action of the electorate he saw on the part of the people "a determination of the true road of progress."

Little To Say
Other than the statement in which the president-elect thanked the nation for the confidence bestowed on him, he had little to say to newspapermen to whom he distributed his formal message.

He admitted with a pleased smile that the heavy electoral vote came as a surprise to him and that he has no idea of cabinet choices at present.

Plans for his inauguration, he added, were not to be considered at this time, but he said that when the time came for him to take office he wished the ceremony to be one of extreme simplicity.

Expresses Gratitude
"I can make no adequate expression of gratitude for the overwhelming confidence of our people who, without regard for section or interest have selected me for president of the whole of the United States," Hoover said. "There has been a vindication of great issues and a determination of the true road of progress."

"The republican party has again been assessed with a great responsibility. In this hour there can be for me no feeling of victory or exultation. Rather it imposes a sense of solemn responsibility of the future and of complete dependence upon divine guidance for the task which the greatest office in the world imposes. That task is to guide the people, with me to interpret the common sense and the ideals of the American people. I can only succeed in my party by the cooperation and unity of spirit of all leaders of opinion and of action for the common good."

Guard Placed Over New Leader, Wife

PALO ALTO, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Herbert Hoover was made aware today of his nearness to the White House. William H. Moran, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, arrived here from Washington simultaneously with a detail of seven secret service agents from San Francisco and after a study of the grounds, Moran posted the men about the Hoover mansion.

Buron Fitts To Prosecute Keyes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Appointment of Buron Fitts, elected district attorney of Los Angeles county in Tuesday's election, as special prosecutor against Asa Keyes, who will be succeeded in office by Fitts, was announced here tonight by U. S. Webb, state attorney general.

Kin Offer Skin To Save Clayton Lad

CONCORD, Nov. 7.—Several relatives of John Netto, 16 years old, of Clayton valley, have offered themselves to Martinez doctors for skin operations so that burned parts of Netto's arms and legs might be rejuvenated.

The youth has been in a Martinez hospital for several weeks as a result of a gasoline explosion at the Netto ranch in Clayton valley.

He'll Crawl, But Not Out Of Wager

Emil Esola must crawl on his hands and knees from Barrett to the election booth bet on Macdonald avenue on Sixth street. This was the decision handed down by Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom yesterday, following the announcement of the Hoover landslide.

"A bet is a bet," declared the judge, with a winner's smile on his face. He was thinking of the agreement he made last week to

Corn Leading Crop

The world production of corn has averaged almost 4,500,000,000 bushels annually from 1923 to 1927, and in terms of value is second only to the wheat crop, the Department of Commerce states. The estimated value of the corn crop of 1927 exceeds $3,000,000,000 according to the department. The statement follows in part:

Corn is the largest of all agricultural crops in the United States, in acreage, quantity, and value and the largest grain crop in the world in quantity. In terms of dollars it is second only to the wheat crop; the estimated value of the world corn crop for 1927, exclusive of Russia and China, was $3,101,000,000, as against $3,986,000,000 for wheat.

A clear understanding of the export and import situations with respect to United States corn can be had only through an appreciation of the salient features of production and domestic requirements. The world acreage of corn in recent years has averaged around 180,000,000 acres. For considerable areas reliable reports are lacking. For the 5-year period 1923 to 1927 annual production averaged about 4,450,000,000 bushels. The average annual contribution of the United States was about 2,750,000,000 bushels, while Argentina, the next largest contributor, furnished less than one-tenth as much.

Of the total annual supply of corn in the United States—which consists of the carry-over from the preceding crop, imports, and new crop—about 86.8 per cent is accounted for by feeding and loss; 3.9 per cent in milling; 2.5 per cent in other manufactures; 1.9 per cent in exports; 0.6 per cent as seed requirements, and 4.3 per cent as carry-over into the following crop year. This disposition of the estimated supply is based upon average estimates for the five crop years, (November to October) 1921-22 to 1925-26.

Pupils Enter Trade

Graduates of high school commercial courses are more likely to enter commercial pursuits than are graduates of college preparatory courses to enter colleges, according to a statement just issued by the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior. The full text of the statement follows:

That graduates of high school commercial courses are more likely to follow commercial pursuits than are graduates of college preparatory courses to enter college is indicated by a recent State-wide survey conducted by the Connecticut Board of Education, involving the postgraduate records of 2,780 graduates of Connecticut high school.

The survey showed that 77 per cent of the graduates from high school commercial courses in Connecticut were actually engaged in commercial occupations, whereas only 63 per cent of the graduates from high school college preparatory courses had entered higher institutions.

Commercial occupations absorbed 42 per cent, or 1,168 of the 2,780 graduates, a higher percentage than any other group of occupations. This number included 77 per cent of the graduates from commercial courses, 12 per cent of the graduates from college preparatory courses and 23 per cent of the graduates from other courses. Of the remaining 1,612 graduates (58 per cent), 31 per cent were engaged in other occupations, and 27 per cent had entered college.

The nation has just celebrated national grape week but so far as we can learn it hasn't put any part of the country in a ferment.

What Shall I Wear?

A cocktail jacket for gold snail.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

It makes the jacket more flattering to a full figure. Dear Jack, I have a gold snail dress, a cocktail jacket for gold snail, and the unweary line of which hopelessly out of date and I also have a strong urge for a little short jacket, yet I do wish I could make use of it. Have you any suggestions?—H. P. L.

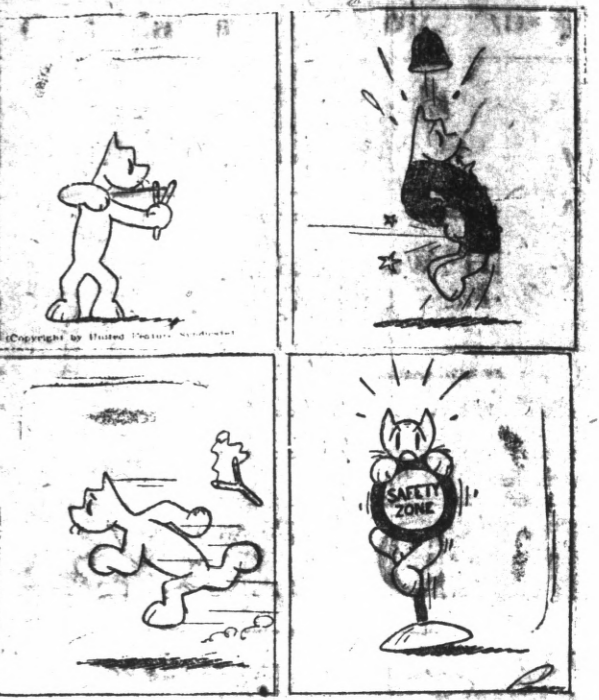

BEAUTY

You can't expect your hair to look well groomed unless you are careful to rinse out every particle of soap after your shampoo. If any soap remains in the hair, it becomes sticky and dull and impossible to arrange becomingly. If you don't have a bath spray for rinsing your hair set one immediately as this is one of the best ways of ridding the hair of every bit of soap.

Of course, liquid shampoo is essential. When you wash your hair with a cake of soap, it is almost impossible to rinse it all out as particles of the soap are found to adhere to the fine strands of the hair and to the scalp.

Massage the liquid soap which has been diluted in a glass of warm water well into the scalp and along the length of the hair. Then, how about a shower jacket? It seems to me that it might be cut from the skirt of your spangled robe. Maybe you could have a little cap to match, or if you cannot convert your dress into a cocktail jacket, it surely could be cut into a scarf. The spangled bandanna is still smart. Have the jacket of all means, if there is sufficient material. It may be worn over all year party dresses, for unless you go to parties, you will hardly need anything so frivolous as a spangled jacket, or would hardly have anything as frivolous as a spangled dress! Yours for Style, JUDIE.

Cat Tales by Pusey

and then rinse out with the spray. Add more of the soap and water, and rinse again until the water runs off the hair free of any trace of soap. Wrap your head in a towel and squeeze as much as possible of the water out and massage the scalp until it is glowing and tingling. If your hair is very oily, apply a corrective tonic immediately after the shampoo to contract the openings of the sebaceous glands. Adding a little lemon juice or vinegar to the rinsing water to lighten the hair will also help to cut any remaining soap and leave the hair soft and fluffy.

THE OUTLINE OF POLAR EXPLORATION

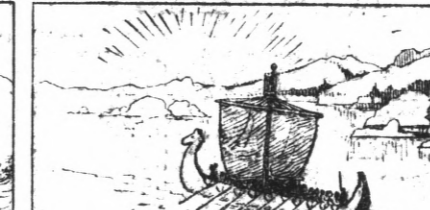

NOW WE APPROACH THE MOST INTERESTING PHASE OF EARLY EXPLORATION IN THE NORTH—THAT OF THE VIKING CONQUESTS. "VIKING" AS A WORD ALONE, IS SO COLORFUL AND SO FITTING, THAT IT IS WORTHY OF OUR ATTENTION. IT IS A CELTIC WORD MEANING "A WARRIOR."

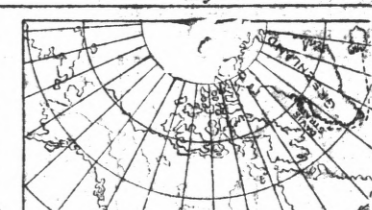

THE GREATEST NAME EVER BLAZED ACROSS THE FLAMING SKY OF GREENLAND IS THAT OF ERIC THE RED. HE WAS OF A WARLIKE NATURE AND FIERCE AS THE BOLDEST OF VIKINGS—BUT POSSESSED THE SUPERIOR ABILITY OF THE BORN EXPLORER AND LEADER OF DARING MEN.

Eric the Red!

IS INITIAL VOYAGE TO GREENLAND WAS ONE OF THE MOST UNPARALLELED IN HISTORY. SAILING IN OPEN BOATS WITHOUT DECKS AND WITH ONLY THE MEAGER EQUIPMENT AVAILABLE AT THAT PERIOD, IT WAS LITTLE SHORT OF MAGNIFICENT TO SET OUT IN SEARCH OF AN UNKNOWN LAND BEYOND THE ICE.

HE NOT ONLY LIVED THROUGH ALL, BUT HE AND HIS VIKINGS STAYED THREE YEARS AND EXPLORED THE COUNTRY FROM HVA ON UP TO THE NORTH OF DAVIS STRAIT. EXACTLY 600 YEARS BEFORE JOHN DAVIS THOUGHT HIMSELF THE DISCOVERER OF THE COAST LINE.

Would You Hand Your Wife a Check for $20,000

...And tell her to spend or to invest it as she wished without consulting you? Of course not! Yet, that is what you are doing if you leave your insurance payable to her in cash. Insurance money so left is usually lost within seven years, through speculation or ill-advised investment. A life insurance trust with this bank will make sure that your insurance money will not be wasted, but rather, will be conserved for the protection of your family.

AIR CIRCUS HAS PLENTY OF THRILLS

After seeing the air sequences in "The Air Circus" which opened last night at the California theater it is easy to believe the advance press stories which stated that Sue Carol David Rollins and Arthur Lake learned to fly before making this picture. These three youngsters perform in airplanes like veterans at the controls. Their flying ability added to their acting ability did much to make this Fox production which Howard Hawks and Lew Seiler directed one of the best that has been seen here in a long time.

While the thrills and exciting moments are furnished by the scenes in the air, the picture is no lacking in heart interest and sentimental appeal. There is a winsome quality about Sue Carol that makes her entirely charming. In her efforts to make David Rollins a fearless airman she wins the sympathy of the audience. The charm of the acting in this picture also is enhanced by the presence of Louise Dresser who plays the role of young Rollins' mother. Arthur Lake the third member of the trio of youngsters, is absolutely infectious in his performance.

The theme of the story deals with the efforts of a young man to conquer his fear of the air with the aid of his mother, the girl he loves and his buddy.

TARZAN THE MIGHTY

Novelized by ARTHUR R. REEVE
From an original serial produced by UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION, by special arrangement with
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
Author of TARZAN OF THE APES, THE CAVE MAN, etc.

Mary smiled and nodded yes. Again he searched the chest and this time drew out a picture of Lord Greystoke in his uniform with the family crest on the photograph. "Mam!" he asked.

"Yes, this is a man, like you, Tarzan," answered Mary. "And see, it says Lord Greystoke and there is the crest like that carved on your knife!"

It did not interest Tarzan much now. "Tarzan a man—he?" He thumped his great chest. Mary smiled. "You a woman—she?" Again Mary smiled acquiescence. "You Tarzan's she?"

Mary smiled a bit fearfully, raised herself on tip-toe and impulsively pressed her lips to his face. Tarzan drew back bewildered. He rubbed his lips, a strange smile on his face. "It is like honey that the King People hide in the trees!" he cried in the emotions of his first kiss.

He took a step closer to Mary. She hesitated, frightened by the giant emotions she had aroused, then again she raised herself on tip-toe, again she put her lips to his, and Tarzan's mighty arms closed tightly around her.

Tarzan was like a big child, now. Mary felt her power over him. Yet she feared his physical power over her. Besides, she was tired. She wanted rest. Slowly she made him understand that she wanted to rest alone in the hut. She knew that he would not leave her now, but would stand on guard through the night. Besides there was the bird call if she should need him. Gradually she got the idea into his head to leave her alone in the hut through the night.

Outside Tarzan saw the moon now with new eyes. He swung himself through the trees in sheer joy of living. "King of the night—it is Tarzan, King of the Jungle, defies you! Come down and fight! I will conquer you, give you as a present to Tarzan's she!"

Thrashing along in his delirium of love Tarzan made his way through the trees making a wide circle of the hut in the clearing.

All through the night Black John had kept Bobby a prisoner close. He knew that Bobby knew where Tarzan's lair was. But Bobby was defiant.

"No," he stuck to it tearfully, "I won't tell you where Tarzan sleeps."

"You won't!" Black John snatched down a big bull whip from the wall. "This will make you tell!"

Bobby cringed back with terror. So it was that in the middle of the night Black John gathered four

In the village they heard the echo of his cry. "Tarzan," the natives cried. "Tarzan is calling to his jungle people again! He comes to kill!"

In Black John's cabin Mary hugged Bobby closely to her breast and smiled. She had heard the call faintly echoing; now she heard the shouts of fear of the villagers, as they scattered. It filled her with joy. Help was coming. Help was coming.

Her joy was short-lived. Through the door of the cabin she saw Black John in rage. He strode over to a small trap door in the wall. He indicated to her to go through it. Bobby clinging to her Mary obeyed. The trap door slid back behind them and Black John who had quickly followed.

There beside them was a lion pit. In it snarled a ferocious specimen. Horrified Mary shrieked Tarzan's name. The lion let out a terrific roar.

Just an instant Tarzan hesitated in the village as he heard his name called. It was Mary's voice—and it came from Black John's cabin. His "rag" changed instantly to worry. Another moment and Tarzan leaped to the door of Black John's hut.

Again the lion roared and Mary screamed. Tarzan entered quickly. Suddenly the door slammed behind him. Black John had thrown a heavy bag. With the other he reached for a lever. He pulled it, opening another trap.

Snarling the lion charged through the trap as Tarzan crouched to meet the tawny leap of the infuriated beast.

Chapter VII FLAMING HATE

Crouching with his knife ready as the lion emerged blinking from the shadows set to spring. Tarzan quickly straightened himself up to his full height, uttering a peculiar hiss. Still snarling the lion shrank back as though in subjection. He knew and feared Tarzan.

Black John had not been prepared to see the king of beasts slink away from Tarzan. But with a low order of cunning the renegade met the emergency. Under cover he rushed Mary and Bobbie into another of the huts.

Through the village reverberated the bull-roar of Tarzan. "Tarzan! Tarzan!" screamed Mary, answering "Tarzan!"

Black John's grimy hand over his mouth smothered Mary's cry. She broke from the renegade, crouching back. "You thought to trap Tarzan. But even the beasts of the jungle are his best friends—and fear him!" She suddenly recoiled, gave the shrill bird call.

Rampaging through the village Tarzan heard. He scattered the natives like so many leaves in the wind. From hut to hut he tore until suddenly he heard the muffled bird-call issuing from one of them. He hurled himself headlong against the thatched wall of the hut. As he crashed through, arms tensed, the fury

BEAR, CARDINAL FROSH MEET SATURDAY

BERKLEY, Nov. 7.—Ancient rivalry will again flare up into a battle when the Freshmen football teams of the University of California and Stanford meet Saturday afternoon in their "Little Big Game" at Memorial stadium. This contest, with some of the spirit of the varsity game injected into it through past years of playing, is expected to draw a large crowd to the stadium.

Ardent football fans who have followed the careers of both teams are enthusiastic over the forthcoming contest. Particularly is this so at California, where Coach Brick Mitchell has developed a powerful eleven from the array of first class material which turned out at the beginning of the season. A squad of thirty men is being carried by Mitchell, and most of them have seen action in one game or another. From this group a number of potential stars have emerged. George Hansen at center, Rusty Gill at fullback, McCoy at end and Watkins at half are men who may be expected to shine in one department or another next Saturday.

Stanford has two strong backfield men in Allen, full and Rintala, half. The former, injured two weeks ago, was not able to get into the game last Saturday against U. S. C. Frosh, but will be recovered sufficiently to do his best work of the season against the California Frosh. Rintala is an accurate passer. Hunt, the Cardinal Babes' left guard, has been picked by some as being one of the best youngsters making his entry into college competition.
